One of the World's Great Salmon Rivers

The Sustainable Living Leadership Program (SLLP) is a 3-week experiential education program designed for young Native and Non-Native leaders interested in becoming agents of change for a sustainable future.

Journey the Route of the Salmon, from Headwaters to Sea.

Journey 1,400 km down the Fraser River, one of the most diverse river basins in North America.

Travel through ten of BC's fourteen biogeoclimatic zones and spend evenings camping along the banks of the Fraser River. Breathtaking scenery greets you along the way, from ancient rainforests and grasslands, to sage brush and floodplain.

PASSION

Through the program you will identify issues you are most passionate about, recognize your talents and gain the skills and confidence to make a difference in your community.

Learn about the Fraser River through an unforgettable adventure.

Engage with peers, facilitators, and the RSBC's extensive network of First Nation and Non-Native community leaders as you pass through their communities. Explore sustainable living; lower your ecological footprint; learn about watersheds, salmon, food security, resource use and green economics.

COMMITMENT

The SLLP is geared to those interested in fisheries, education, adventure tourism and community action. By the time you reach the Pacific Ocean, you will have designed your own sustainability project suited to your community.

Team building, conflict resolution, communication and critical thinking skills are integral to the SLLP.

CHANGE STARTS HERE

Personal leadership is the first step to community action. Supported by RSBC's network of SLLP alumni and staff, you return home having developed a new relationship with the Fraser, a better understanding of river issues, a vision for change, and the skills and ability to make a difference in your community.
